AFFIRMATION IN SUPPORT OF DEBTOR’S AMENDED MOTION TO REOPEN CHAPTER 7 CASE

I, Austin C. Smith, an attorney at law admitted to practice before this Court, being mindful of the penalties of perjury, duly swears as follows:

1. I am attorney with the Smith Law Group.
2. I am attorney for Hilal K. Homaidan (“Debtor”), and as such am familiar with the facts and circumstances of this matter.
3. I submit this affirmation in support of the instant motion to reopen Debtor’s case pursuant to section 350 of the Bankruptcy Code in order to obtain a determination of dischargeability and to accord further relief to Debtor.
4. Debtor seeks declaratory relief that his, and all similarly situated persons, Sallie Mae Tuition Answer Loans (the “Debts”) were discharged by operation of law upon entry of the applicable discharge orders, a finding that Navient willfully violated these discharge injunctions under section 524 of the Bankruptcy Code, and disgorgement of all money repaid on the discharged debts.

5. This court has jurisdiction over violations of the discharge injunctions as core matters arising under the Bankruptcy Code pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 157 and 28 U.S.C. 1409.
6. Venue is proper in the Eastern District of New York under 28 U.S.C. 1409(a).
7. On December 4, 2008 Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Eastern District of New York.
8. Debtor listed on Schedule F of the petition two certain “tuition answer” loans owed to Sallie Mae in the amounts of 7,983.19 and 8,190.11
9. On or about April 9, 2009, this Court issued a discharge order in Debtor’s bankruptcy proceeding.
10. On or about April 11, 2009, Sallie Mae (Navient’s predecessor-in-interest) received notice of discharge.
11. Debtor did not enter into an agreement under section 524(c) of the Bankruptcy Code.
12. The Debts were not non-dischargeable student loans or conditional educational grants under section 523(a)(8). Specifically, the loans were “direct-to-consumer” loans that were not made for “qualified education expenses.”¹
13. Neither Sallie Mae nor Navient filed an adversary proceeding contesting dischargeability under section 523(a)(8).
14. The Debts were therefore discharged by operation of law pursuant to section 727(b) of the Bankruptcy Code.²

15. Notwithstanding, Navient and its agents misrepresented the Debts to Homaidan as non-dischargeable debts and initiated monthly collection efforts on the discharged debt, and succeeded in collecting the full balances by July 30, 2011.
16. Debtor now seeks to reopen this bankruptcy case in order to obtain relief for himself and all others similarly situated.
17. Federal Rule of Bankruptcy Procedure 5010 provides “[a] case may be reopened on the motion of the debtor . . . pursuant to section 350 of the Code.”
18. Section 350 of the Bankruptcy Code permits the bankruptcy court to reopen a case “to administer assets, accord relief to the debtor, or for other cause.”
19. Rule 4007 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy states that a “case may be reopened” at any time “for the purpose of filing a complaint to obtain a determination” of discharge.
20. Bankruptcy courts are now agreeing to rehear student loan dischargeability complaints in light of groundbreaking case law originally made in this Court concerning the proper

² In re Haroon, 313 B.R. 686, 689 (Bankr. E.D. Va. 2004) (“The failure to seek a dischargeability determination does not alter the fact that the debt is or is not discharged upon entry of the discharge order. It merely avoids a judicial declaration of that fact at that time . . . The parties' rights were fixed at that time and, if the debt was discharged, the creditor was barred from collecting it. The fact that they may not have agreed as to what that status was is immaterial. The status, although perhaps unknown to the parties or disputed by them, was fixed by the discharge order. Neither was obligated to commence a dischargeability action to resolve that issue and the failure to do so did not alter the status of the debt. There are ramifications from not seeking a dischargeability determination, that is, whether the debt falls within an exception of § 523. One ramification is that a creditor who attempts to collect the debt proceeds at his own peril and accepts the consequences of his own actions. If a creditor wants to avoid the adverse consequences of an erroneous analysis, he can come to this court at any time, even after the case has been closed, and seek an adjudication of the dischargeability issue. 4 Collier on Bankruptcy, ¶ 523.04 (15th ed. revised 2004). If he fails to do that and seeks to collect the debt, the debtor may use a show cause order to have this determination made. If the creditor is wrong and the debt was discharged, he has violated § 524.”) (emphasis added).

scope of section 523(a)(8) that has been adopted by bankruptcy courts across the country.³

21. Seeking relief for violation of the discharge order is also an appropriate reason for reopening a case.⁴

22. The decision to reopen is within the sound discretion of the Court.

WHEREFORE, Debtor respectfully requests the entry of an Order reopening this Chapter 7 case.

Respectfully submitted,

A hearing on the Motion to Reopen was held before the Court on June 5, 2014 and the Motion to Reopen was granted.”).
